

Our Recommendations & Markets Available

Our recommendation will usually follow us approaching a reasonable number of insurers who might be able to provide a quote and offer cover for your risk. This is called a fair analysis of the market. Sometimes we may only approach a limited number of insurers, this is known as a panel and may be due to your trade or the high risk nature of your business or because our experienced Advisors would like to recommend a product designed specifically for your industry. On some occasions, we may also approach a single insurer due to the type of cover being provided or because we have a preferred market who we believe offers cover suitable for your needs. In either case, we will tell you the basis as part of our sales process.

You will see below a table of the primary insurers we place risks with broken down by policy type:
